The U.S. Sportsmen's Alliance Foundation, a sister organization of the USSA, includes the U.S. Sportsmen's Legal Defense Fund, the only litigation entity in the country established specifically to represent sportsmen in lawsuits that affect outdoor sports. The Foundation is also home to the Legacy Society which helps members ensure our outdoor heritage continues through planned gifts. Another key function of the USSA Foundation is the Trailblazer Adventure Program. This unique program introduces kids across America to shooting, fishing, archery and other outdoor topics. More than 1 million kids—and their parents or guardians—have completed Trailblazer programs since 2001.

USSA Is Dedicated To Stopping
Anti-Hunters in Their Tracks

60 Number of national wildlife refuges USSA and a coalition of other groups kept open to hunting in 2011 by thwarting a lawsuit by the Humane Society (HSUS) to stop it.

The USSA's Families Afield recruitment program introduced 598,532 new hunters to the sport by reducing barriers in 32 states.

The U.S. Sportsmen's Alliance and Foundation are watchdog organizations that work tirelessly to protect America's sporting traditions from attacks by anti-hunting and animal rights extremists. Through direct lobbying, development of grass-roots partnerships, and ballot issue campaigning, the USSA protects, supports and advances the rights of hunters, trappers, anglers, sporting dog enthusiasts, recreational shooters and professional wildlife managers.

A Watchdog for Sportsmen's Rights

USSA defeated or amended legislation that would harm sporting dog breeders in 40 states

In 2010, the USSA invested $ 3.1 million to fight battles in 44 states.

Active in 44 states during 2010, defending hunting, fishing, trapping and shooting sports rights, access and opportunities at federal, state and local levels of government.

Defending sporting dog owners against the Humane Society of the United States and others in the animal rights lobby from radical puppy mill bills.

Protecting funds received by state and federal agencies from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses against raids to fund other programs.

Working to keep wildlife management and conservation under the control of trained professionals, and not politicians or groups with hidden agendas.

Developed and promoted the Families Afield hunter recruitment program in partnership with the National Shooting Sports Foundation, the National Wild Turkey Federation, and supported by the NRA and the Congressional Sportsmen Foundation.

Created and introduced legislation in Congress to protect and enhance hunting access and opportunities on National Wildlife Refuges and Bureau of Land Management and U.S. Forest Service lands

More than ever, the USSA and USSAF need your support. Your membership puts you in the front line defending against legislative attacks that would desecrate and destroy our outdoor heritage. Donations to the USSA support litigation and education efforts.
